

However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL." b7E -2,4
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

[redacted]

b7E -2

August 23, 2016

[redacted]

Bank of America

[redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 12, United States Code (U.S.C.) Section 3414(a)(5) of the Right to Financial Privacy Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Bank of America. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have.

However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redact] Field Office Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redact] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL." b7E -2,4
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redact] Field Office Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redact] Field Office FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

August 23, 2016

Capital One Bank (USA), N.A./Capital One, N.A.

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 12, United States Code (U.S.C.) Section 3414(a)(5) of the Right to Financial Privacy Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Capital One Bank (USA), N.A./Capital One, N.A.. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redact] Field Office Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redact] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redact] Field Office Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redact] Field Office FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

[redacted]

b7E -2

August 23, 2016

[redacted]

Equifax

[redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 15, United States Code (U.S.C.) Section 1681v of the Fair Credit Reporting Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Equifax. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have.

However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redact] Field Office Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redact] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redact] Field Office Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redact] Field Office FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

August 23, 2016

Experian

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 15, United States Code (U.S.C.) Section 1681v of the Fair Credit Reporting Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Experian. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redact] Field Office Field Office, attention [redact] name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redact] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redact] Field Office Field Office or attention [redact] name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redact] Field Office FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

[redacted]
b7E -2

August 23, 2016

[redacted]

TransUnion

[redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 15, United States Code (U.S.C.) Section 1681v of the Fair Credit Reporting Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to TransUnion. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redact] Field Office Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redact] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL." b7E -2,4
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redact] Field Office Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redact] Field Office FBI Field Office.

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

November 14, 2016

Custodian of Records
Google
1600 Amphitheatre Parkway
Mountain View, CA 94043
650-253-7807

Dear Custodian of Records:

Pursuant to Title 18, United States Code (U.S.C.), Section 2709 (Section 201 of the Electronic Communications Privacy Act of 1986), the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Google. b7E -1 The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

April 25, 2017

b6 -1

b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1

b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 18, United States Code (U.S.C.), Section 2709 (Section 201 of the Electronic Communications Privacy Act of 1986), the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Sprint Federal Operations. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

May 09, 2016

Yahoo!

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 18, United States Code (U.S.C.), Section 2709 (Section 201 of the Electronic Communications Privacy Act of 1986), the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Yahoo!. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

May 09, 2016

T-Mobile USA, Inc.

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 18, United States Code (U.S.C.), Section 2709 (Section 201 of the Electronic Communications Privacy Act of 1986), the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to T-Mobile USA, Inc.. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

February 14, 2017

Paltalk/AVM Software

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 18, United States Code (U.S.C.), Section 2709 (Section 201 of the Electronic Communications Privacy Act of 1986), the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to AVM Software. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL." b7E -2,4
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

February 14, 2017

Charter Plaza

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 18, United States Code (U.S.C.), Section 2709 (Section 201 of the Electronic Communications Privacy Act of 1986), the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Charter Communications. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have.

However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

February 14, 2017

Custodian of Records
Google
1600 Amphitheatre Parkway
Mountain View, CA 94043
650-253-7807

Dear Custodian of Records:

Pursuant to Title 18, United States Code (U.S.C.), Section 2709 (Section 201 of the Electronic Communications Privacy Act of 1986), the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Google. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted]" and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL." b7E -2,4
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]." b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

February 14, 2017

Custodian of Records
Microsoft Corporation
1065 La Avenida
Building 4
Mountain View, CA 94043

Dear Custodian of Records:

Pursuant to Title 18, United States Code (U.S.C.), Section 2709 (Section 201 of the Electronic Communications Privacy Act of 1986), the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Microsoft Corporation. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

[redacted]

b7E -2

December 14, 2016

[redacted]

Bank of America

[redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 12, United States Code (U.S.C.) Section 3414(a)(5) of the Right to Financial Privacy Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Bank of America. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have.

However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

December 14, 2016

Equifax

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 15, United States Code (U.S.C.) Section 1681u(a) of the Fair Credit Reporting Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Equifax. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have.

However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

December 14, 2016

Experian

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 15, United States Code (U.S.C.) Section 1681u(a) of the Fair Credit Reporting Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Experian. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

[redacted]
b7E -2

December 14, 2016

[redacted]
Federal Reserve Bank of New York
[redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 12, United States Code (U.S.C.) Section 3414(a)(5) of the Right to Financial Privacy Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Federal Reserve Bank of New York. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL." b7E -2,4
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

December 14, 2016

TransUnion

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 15, United States Code (U.S.C.) Section 1681u(a) of the Fair Credit Reporting Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to TransUnion. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL." b7E -2,4
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

b7E -2

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

[redacted]
b7E -2

August 23, 2016

Custodian of Records
Google
1600 Amphitheatre Parkway
Mountain View, CA 94043
650-253-7807

Dear Custodian of Records:

Pursuant to Title 18, United States Code (U.S.C.), Section 2709 (Section 201 of the Electronic Communications Privacy Act of 1986), the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Google. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redact] Field Office Field Office, attention [redact] name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redact] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL." b7E -2,4
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redact] Field Office Field Office or attention [redact] name and telephone number]." b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redact] Field Office FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

July 03, 2017

The Clearing House Payment Company LLC

b6 -1

b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1

b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 12, United States Code (U.S.C.) Section 3414(a)(5) of the Right to Financial Privacy Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to The Clearing House Payment Company LLC.

b7E -1

The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

[redacted]
b7E -2

February 16, 2017

[redacted]

Wells Fargo Bank NA (West)

[redacted]
b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 12, United States Code (U.S.C.) Section 3414(a)(5) of the Right to Financial Privacy Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Wells Fargo Bank NA (West). The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

July 03, 2017

Fifth Third Bank

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 12, United States Code (U.S.C.) Section 3414(a)(5) of the Right to Financial Privacy Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Fifth Third Bank. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

September 01, 2016

Equifax

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 15, United States Code (U.S.C.) Section 1681u(a) of the Fair Credit Reporting Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Equifax. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted]" and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

September 01, 2016

Experian

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 15, United States Code (U.S.C.) Section 1681u(a) of the Fair Credit Reporting Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Experian. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have.

However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted]" and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL." b7E -2,4
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

September 01, 2016

TransUnion

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 15, United States Code (U.S.C.) Section 1681u(a) of the Fair Credit Reporting Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to TransUnion. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have.

However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted]" and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL." b7E -2,4
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

August 31, 2016

Custodian of Records
Verizon Wireless
180 Washington Valley Road
Bedminster, NJ 07921
800-451-5242

Dear Custodian of Records:

Pursuant to Title 18, United States Code (U.S.C.), Section 2709 (Section 201 of the Electronic Communications Privacy Act of 1986), the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Verizon Wireless. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have.

17cv03263-471

However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted]" and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL." b7E -2,4
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

October 18, 2016

AT&T, AT&T Mobility, or AT&T Corporate Security

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 18, United States Code (U.S.C.), Section 2709 (Section 201 of the Electronic Communications Privacy Act of 1986), the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to AT&T. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads; "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b6 -2
b7C -2
b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

October 18, 2016

b6 -1

Equifax

b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 15, United States Code (U.S.C.) Sections 1681u(a) and 1681u(b) of the Fair Credit Reporting Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Equifax. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted]" and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b6 -2
b7C -2
b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

[redacted]

b7E -2

March 03, 2017

[redacted]

Experian

[redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 15, United States Code (U.S.C.) Sections 1681u(a) and 1681u(b) of the Fair Credit Reporting Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Experian. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL." b7E -2,4
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

[redacted]
b7E -2

March 03, 2017

[redacted] TransUnion

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 15, United States Code (U.S.C.) Sections 1681u(a) and 1681u(b) of the Fair Credit Reporting Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to TransUnion. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

July 27, 2016

T-Mobile USA, Inc.

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 18, United States Code (U.S.C.), Section 2709 (Section 201 of the Electronic Communications Privacy Act of 1986), the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to T-Mobile USA, Inc.. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

July 27, 2016

Custodian of Records
Verizon Legal Compliance
22001 Loudoun County Pkwy
C1-2-601 .
Ashburn, VA 20147
703-886-6240

Dear Custodian of Records:

Pursuant to Title 18, United States Code (U.S.C.), Section 2709 (Section 201 of the Electronic Communications Privacy Act of 1986), the FBI issued a National Security Letter [redacted] to Verizon Legal Compliance. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

August 18, 2016

Custodian of Records
Yahoo!
701 First Avenue
Sunnyvale, CA 94089
408-349-5162

Dear Custodian of Records:

Pursuant to Title 18, United States Code (U.S.C.), Section 2709 (Section 201 of the Electronic Communications Privacy Act of 1986), the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Yahoo!. b7E -1 The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

July 03, 2017

XO Holdings, LLC

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 18, United States Code (U.S.C.), Section 2709 (Section 201 of the Electronic Communications Privacy Act of 1986), the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to XO Communications. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted]" and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL." b7E -2,4
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

August 18, 2016

Equifax

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 15, United States Code (U.S.C.) Section 1681v of the Fair Credit Reporting Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Equifax. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

[redacted]

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

August 18, 2016

Experian

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 15, United States Code (U.S.C.) Section 1681v of the Fair Credit Reporting Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Experian. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

[redacted]

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

August 18, 2016

Federal Reserve Bank of New York

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 12, United States Code (U.S.C.) Section 3414(a)(5) of the Right to Financial Privacy Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Federal Reserve Bank of New York. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

August 18, 2016

MoneyGram International

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 12, United States Code (U.S.C.) Section 3414(a)(5) of the Right to Financial Privacy Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to MoneyGram International. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General [redacted]" b7E -2,4
- Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the

[redacted]

FBI Field Office.

Sincerely,

[redacted]

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

August 18, 2016

Western Union

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 12, United States Code (U.S.C.) Section 3414(a) (5) of the Right to Financial Privacy Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Western Union. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

August 19, 2016

Metro PCS, Inc. c/o T-Mobile USA, Inc.

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 18, United States Code (U.S.C.), Section 2709 (Section 201 of the Electronic Communications Privacy Act of 1986), the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Metro PCS, Inc. c/o T-Mobile USA, Inc.. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- .. The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- .. The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- .. Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

April 14, 2017

Custodian of Records
Yahoo!
701 First Avenue
Sunnyvale, CA 94089
408-349-5162

Dear Custodian of Records:

Pursuant to Title 18, United States Code (U.S.C.), Section 2709 (Section 201 of the Electronic Communications Privacy Act of 1986), the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Yahoo!. b7E -1 The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

[redacted]

b7E -2

April 14, 2017

[redacted]

eNom, Inc.

[redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 18, United States Code (U.S.C.), Section 2709 (Section 201 of the Electronic Communications Privacy Act of 1986), the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to eNom, Inc.. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

October 28, 2016

Custodian of Records
Verizon Wireless
180 Washington Valley Road
Bedminster, NJ 07921
800-451-5242

Dear Custodian of Records:

Pursuant to Title 18, United States Code (U.S.C.), Section 2709 (Section 201 of the Electronic Communications Privacy Act of 1986), the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to CellCo Partnership. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

[redacted]
October 28, 2016

b7E -2

[redacted]
Metro PCS, Inc. c/o T-Mobile USA, Inc.

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 18, United States Code (U.S.C.), Section 2709 (Section 201 of the Electronic Communications Privacy Act of 1986), the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Metro PCS, Inc. c/o T-Mobile USA, Inc.. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have.

However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

[redacted]

b7E -2

October 28, 2016

[redacted]

Metro PCS, Inc. c/o T-Mobile USA, Inc.

[redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 18, United States Code (U.S.C.), Section 2709 (Section 201 of the Electronic Communications Privacy Act of 1986), the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Metro PCS, Inc. c/o T-Mobile USA, Inc.. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have.

However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL." b7E -2,4
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

October 18, 2016

Custodian of Records AOL, INC.
22000 AOL Way
Dulles, VA 20166
703-265-1000

Dear Custodian of Records:

Pursuant to Title 18, United States Code (U.S.C.), Section 2709 (Section 201 of the Electronic Communications Privacy Act of 1986), the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to AOL, INC.. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b6 -2

b7C -2

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

October 18, 2016

AT&T, AT&T Mobility, or AT&T Corporate Security

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 18, United States Code (U.S.C.), Section 2709 (Section 201 of the Electronic Communications Privacy Act of 1986), the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to AT&T. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads; "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b6 -2

b7C -2

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

October 18, 2016

Comcast Communications

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 18, United States Code (U.S.C.), Section 2709 (Section 201 of the Electronic Communications Privacy Act of 1986), the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Comcast . The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

Sincerely,

b6 -2
b7C -2
b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

October 18, 2016

Equifax

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 15, United States Code (U.S.C.) Sections 1681u(a) and 1681u(b) of the Fair Credit Reporting Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Equifax. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b6 -2

b7C -2

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

October 18, 2016

Experian

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 15, United States Code (U.S.C.) Sections 1681u(a) and 1681u(b) of the Fair Credit Reporting Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Experian. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b6 -2
b7C -2
b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

October 18, 2016

b6 -1
b7C -1

Sprint Federal Operations

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 18, United States Code (U.S.C.), Section 2709 (Section 201 of the Electronic Communications Privacy Act of 1986), the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Sprint Federal Operations. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b6 -2
b7C -2
b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

October 18, 2016

TransUnion

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 15, United States Code (U.S.C.) Sections 1681u(a) and 1681u(b) of the Fair Credit Reporting Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to TransUnion. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b6 -2
b7C -2
b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

[redacted]

b7E -2

November 10, 2016

[redacted]

Codero Hosting

[redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 18, United States Code (U.S.C.), Section 2709 (Section 201 of the Electronic Communications Privacy Act of 1986), the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Codero Hosting . The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have.

However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

August 19, 2016

Alianza

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 18, United States Code (U.S.C.), Section 2709 (Section 201 of the Electronic Communications Privacy Act of 1986), the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Alianza . The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

April 17, 2017

Equifax

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 15, United States Code (U.S.C.) Section 1681v of the Fair Credit Reporting Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Equifax. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

April 17, 2017

Experian

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 15, United States Code (U.S.C.) Section 1681v of the Fair Credit Reporting Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Experian. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have.

However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

April 17, 2017

T-Mobile USA, Inc.

b6 -1

b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1

b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 18, United States Code (U.S.C.), Section 2709 (Section 201 of the Electronic Communications Privacy Act of 1986), the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to T-Mobile USA, Inc.. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

[redacted]
b7E -2

April 17, 2017

[redacted]

TransUnion

[redacted]

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 15, United States Code (U.S.C.) Section 1681v of the Fair Credit Reporting Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to TransUnion. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have.

However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

October 28, 2016

Wells Fargo Bank NA (West)

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 12, United States Code (U.S.C.) Section 3414(a)(5) of the Right to Financial Privacy Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Wells Fargo Financial. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have.

However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

February 16, 2017

American Express

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 12, United States Code (U.S.C.) Section 3414(a)(5) of the Right to Financial Privacy Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to American Express. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have.

However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL." b7E -2,4
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

[redacted]
b7E -2

February 16, 2017

[redacted] Cbeyond
[redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 18, United States Code (U.S.C.), Section 2709 (Section 201 of the Electronic Communications Privacy Act of 1986), the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Cbeyond. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

December 06, 2016

Atlantic.net

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 18, United States Code (U.S.C.), Section 2709 (Section 201 of the Electronic Communications Privacy Act of 1986), the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Atlantic.net. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

August 19, 2016

b6 -1
b7C -1

TracFone Wireless, Inc.

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 18, United States Code (U.S.C.), Section 2709 (Section 201 of the Electronic Communications Privacy Act of 1986), the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to TracFone Wireless, Inc.. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

[redacted]

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

[redacted]

b7E -2

March 01, 2017

[redacted]

Chase Bank, USA, N.A./JP Morgan Chase Bank, N.A./JP Morgan Securities, LLC

b6 -1
b7C -1

[redacted]

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 12, United States Code (U.S.C.) Section 3414(a)(5) of the Right to Financial Privacy Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Chase Bank, USA, N.A./JP Morgan Chase Bank, N.A./JP Morgan Securities, LLC. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted]" and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b6 -2

b7C -2

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

March 01, 2017

Compass Bank

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 12, United States Code (U.S.C.) Section 3414(a) (5) of the Right to Financial Privacy Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Compass Bank. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have.

However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted]" and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL." b7E -2,4
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b6 -2
b7C -2
b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

March 01, 2017

Flagstar Bank

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 12, United States Code (U.S.C.) Section 3414(a) (5) of the Right to Financial Privacy Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Flagstar Bank. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b6 -2

b7C -2

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

March 01, 2017

New York Community Bank

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 12, United States Code (U.S.C.) Section 3414(a)(5) of the Right to Financial Privacy Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to New York Community Bank. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted]" and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL." b7E -2,4
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b6 -2
b7C -2
b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

March 01, 2017

Wells Fargo Bank NA (West)

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 12, United States Code (U.S.C.) Section 3414(a)(5) of the Right to Financial Privacy Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Wells Fargo Bank NA (West). The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted]" and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b6 -2
b7C -2
b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

August 19, 2016

Custodian of Records
Google
1600 Amphitheatre Parkway
Mountain View, CA 94043
650-253-7807

Dear Custodian of Records:

Pursuant to Title 18, United States Code (U.S.C.), Section 2709 (Section 201 of the Electronic Communications Privacy Act of 1986), the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Google. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

October 18, 2016

Custodian of Records
Verizon Wireless
180 Washington Valley Road
Bedminster, NJ 07921
800-451-5242

Dear Custodian of Records:

Pursuant to Title 18, United States Code (U.S.C.), Section 2709 (Section 201 of the Electronic Communications Privacy Act of 1986), the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to CellCo Partnership. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

17cv03263-561

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b6 -2
b7C -2
b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

October 18, 2016

Equifax

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 15, United States Code (U.S.C.) Sections 1681u(a) and 1681u(b) of the Fair Credit Reporting Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Equifax. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b6 -2

b7C -2

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

October 18, 2016

TransUnion

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 15, United States Code (U.S.C.) Sections 1681u(a) and 1681u(b) of the Fair Credit Reporting Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to TransUnion. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b6 -2
b7C -2
b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

[redacted]
b7E -2

April 17, 2017

[redacted]
T-Mobile USA, Inc.

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 18, United States Code (U.S.C.), Section 2709 (Section 201 of the Electronic Communications Privacy Act of 1986), the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to T-Mobile USA, Inc.. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

October 18, 2016

American Express

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 12, United States Code (U.S.C.) Section 3414(a)(5) of the Right to Financial Privacy Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to American Express. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b6 -2
b7C -2
b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

October 18, 2016

Capital One Bank (USA), N.A./Capital One, N.A.

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 12, United States Code (U.S.C.) Section 3414(a)(5) of the Right to Financial Privacy Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Capital One Bank (USA), N.A./Capital One, N.A.. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted]" and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b6 -2
b7C -2
b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

October 18, 2016

Chase Bank, USA, N.A./JP Morgan Chase Bank, N.A./JP Morgan Securities, LLC

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 12, United States Code (U.S.C.) Section 3414(a)(5) of the Right to Financial Privacy Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Chase Bank, USA, N.A./JP Morgan Chase Bank, N.A./JP Morgan Securities, LLC. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and

- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL." b7E -2,4
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b6 -2
b7C -2
b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

December 14, 2016

AT&T, AT&T Mobility, or AT&T Corporate Security

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 18, United States Code (U.S.C.), Section 2709 (Section 201 of the Electronic Communications Privacy Act of 1986), the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to AT&T. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

October 10, 2016

Equifax

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 15, United States Code (U.S.C.) Section 1681v of the Fair Credit Reporting Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Equifax. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

[redacted]

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

October 10, 2016

Experian

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1

b7C -1

b6 -1

b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 15, United States Code (U.S.C.) Section 1681v of the Fair Credit Reporting Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Experian. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have.

However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

October 10, 2016

TransUnion

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 15, United States Code (U.S.C.) Section 1681v of the Fair Credit Reporting Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to TransUnion. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have.

However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

[redacted]
b7E -2

December 14, 2016

[redacted]
BurstNET Technologies, Inc
[redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 18, United States Code (U.S.C.), Section 2709 (Section 201 of the Electronic Communications Privacy Act of 1986), the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to BurstNET Technologies, Inc. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have.

However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL." b7E -2,4
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b6 -2
b7C -2
b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

[redacted]
b7E -2

December 14, 2016

Custodian of Records
Verizon Communications, Inc.
22001 Loudoun County Pkwy
D1-3-521
Ashburn, VA 20147
703-886-6240

Dear Custodian of Records:

Pursuant to Title 18, United States Code (U.S.C.), Section 2709 (Section 201 of the Electronic Communications Privacy Act of 1986), the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Verizon Communications, Inc.. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have.

17cv03263-585

However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL." b7E -2,4
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b6 -2
b7C -2
b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

August 18, 2016

Custodian of Records
Microsoft Corporation
1065 La Avenida
Building 4
Mountain View, CA 94043

Dear Custodian of Records:

Pursuant to Title 18, United States Code (U.S.C.), Section 2709 (Section 201 of the Electronic Communications Privacy Act of 1986), the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Microsoft Corporation. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL." b7E -2,4
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

[redacted]
b7E -2

August 18, 2016

[redacted] TracFone Wireless, Inc.

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 18, United States Code (U.S.C.), Section 2709 (Section 201 of the Electronic Communications Privacy Act of 1986), the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to TracFone Wireless, Inc., d/b/a Simple Mobile. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have.

However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

August 19, 2016

Citizens Bank of Pennsylvania

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 12, United States Code (U.S.C.) Section 3414(a)(5) of the Right to Financial Privacy Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Citizens Bank of Pennsylvania. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

September 30, 2016

Equifax

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 15, United States Code (U.S.C.) Section 1681v of the Fair Credit Reporting Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Equifax. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have.

However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

[redacted]
b7E -2

[redacted]
September 30, 2016

[redacted]
Experian
[redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 15, United States Code (U.S.C.) Section 1681v of the Fair Credit Reporting Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Experian. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

September 30, 2016

Custodian of Records
Facebook 1601 Willow Rd.
Building 18
Menlo Park, CA 94025
650-543-4890

Dear Custodian of Records:

Pursuant to Title 18, United States Code (U.S.C.), Section 2709 (Section 201 of the Electronic Communications Privacy Act of 1986), the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Facebook. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have.

However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

September 30, 2016

Federal Reserve Bank of New York

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 12, United States Code (U.S.C.) Section 3414(a)(5) of the Right to Financial Privacy Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Federal Reserve Bank of New York. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

September 30, 2016

Metro PCS, Inc. c/o T-Mobile USA, Inc.

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 18, United States Code (U.S.C.), Section 2709 (Section 201 of the Electronic Communications Privacy Act of 1986), the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Metro PCS, Inc. c/o T-Mobile USA, Inc.. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have.

However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

September 30, 2016

b6 -1
b7C -1

MoneyGram International

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 12, United States Code (U.S.C.) Section 3414(a)(5) of the Right to Financial Privacy Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to MoneyGram International. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have.

However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

September 30, 2016

TransUnion

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 15, United States Code (U.S.C.) Section 1681v of the Fair Credit Reporting Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to TransUnion. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

September 30, 2016

Western Union

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 12, United States Code (U.S.C.) Section 3414(a)(5) of the Right to Financial Privacy Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Western Union. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have.

However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

September 30, 2016

Custodian of Records
Yahoo!
701 First Avenue
Sunnyvale, CA 94089
408-349-5162

Dear Custodian of Records:

Pursuant to Title 18, United States Code (U.S.C.), Section 2709 (Section 201 of the Electronic Communications Privacy Act of 1986), the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Yahoo!. b7E -1 The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

December 14, 2016

Custodian of Records
Microsoft Corporation
1065 La Avenida
Building 4
Mountain View, CA 94043

Dear Custodian of Records:

Pursuant to Title 18, United States Code (U.S.C.), Section 2709 (Section 201 of the Electronic Communications Privacy Act of 1986), the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Microsoft Corporation. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL." b7E -2,4
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

[redacted]
b7E -2

May 08, 2017

[redacted]
Chase Bank, USA, N.A./JP Morgan Chase Bank, N.A./JP Morgan Securities, LLC

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 12, United States Code (U.S.C.) Section 3414(a)(5) of the Right to Financial Privacy Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Chase Bank, USA, N.A./JP Morgan Chase Bank, N.A./JP Morgan Securities, LLC. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

May 08, 2017

Equifax

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 15, United States Code (U.S.C.) Section 1681v of the Fair Credit Reporting Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Equifax. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have.

However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

May 08, 2017

Experian

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 15, United States Code (U.S.C.) Section 1681v of the Fair Credit Reporting Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Experian. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted] and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL."
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

b7E -2

May 08, 2017

TransUnion

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 15, United States Code (U.S.C.) Section 1681v of the Fair Credit Reporting Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to TransUnion. The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have. However, consistent with the relevant statute, the FBI requests that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent included on the NSL be redacted because disclosure may result in danger to the life or physical safety of a person. Please note that the name and telephone number of the FBI Special Agent might appear in two places on the NSL and should be redacted accordingly:

- In the paragraph discussing your right to challenge the NSL, in the sentence that reads, "That notice must be mailed or faxed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office, attention [redact name and telephone number], with a copy to FBI HQ, attention: General Counsel [redacted]" and must reference the date of the NSL and the identification number found on the upper left corner of the NSL." b7E -2,4
- Near the last page of the NSL, in a sentence that reads, "Any questions you have regarding this letter should be directed to the FBI [redacted] Field Office or attention [redact name and telephone number]."

Please direct any questions you have regarding this letter to the [redacted] FBI Field Office.

b7E -2,4

b7E -2

b7E -2

Sincerely,

b7E -2

U.S. Department of Justice

Federal Bureau of Investigation

File No. [redacted]

b7E -1

[redacted]
b7E -2

May 08, 2017

[redacted]
Wells Fargo Bank NA (West)

b6 -1
b7C -1

Dear [redacted]

b6 -1
b7C -1

Pursuant to Title 12, United States Code (U.S.C.) Section 3414(a)(5) of the Right to Financial Privacy Act, the FBI issued a National Security Letter (NSL) [redacted] to Wells Fargo Bank NA (West). The NSL included a nondisclosure requirement that prohibited you, any officer, employee, or agent of your company from disclosing the letter and that the FBI had sought or obtained access to information, other than to those to whom disclosure was necessary to comply with the letter or to an attorney to obtain legal advice or legal assistance with respect to the letter. Consistent with the requirements of the USA FREEDOM Act of 2015 and the Termination Procedures for NSL Nondisclosure Requirement, the FBI has reviewed whether to continue the nondisclosure requirement in the NSL and determined that nondisclosure is no longer necessary with respect to all information contained in the NSL except as set forth below.

b7E -1

Accordingly, and consistent with law, you may exercise your discretion to disclose the following:

- The fact that you received the NSL on a certain date;
- The customer account(s) for which information was sought; and
- Whether or not you provided responsive information to the FBI pursuant to the NSL.

If you choose, you may disclose the NSL itself provided that doing so would be consistent with other legal obligations you may have.